

Claire Street RN, MSc

After qualifying as a Registered Adult Nurse from University College London, Claire worked as a Community Health Nurse in a busy District Nursing team in North London. From there she went to work for an American Humanitarian Aid Agency in Bosnia, Croatia and Kosovo, working alongside the National Ministry of Health departments helping to restart post conflict community based health services.

Then, after completing a specialist health qualification in Tropical medicine and community health at the Liverpool school of Tropical Medicine, Claire continued to work in Macedonia, Azerbaijan, Eritrea, Sri Lanka and recently Cyprus working predominantly in refugee and displaced persons health care.

Whilst in Cyprus she has completed an MSc in International Public Health with the University of Liverpool. She recently completed a consultancy post working alongside UNICEF on the Children in a Changing Climate project for the Middle East and North African region.

Claire has two daughters at St Johns. Her husband Chris works for the United Nations in the Middle East.

Claire's interests include spending time with her family, traveling and volunteering as the Treasurer for Riding for the Disabled in Happy Valley.
