

Dan Browning BA (Hons), PGCE, NPQH, PCPS

Executive Principal

Federation of St. John's and King Richard Schools (SCE), Cyprus

After completing his degree in Modern History and Post Graduate Certificate of Education, Dan started his teaching career in Southend-on-Sea, Essex in 1997. After one year, he moved to Frinton-on-Sea, Essex to take up a promoted post as Head of History. Following 3 years of further promotion to Assistant Head of Year, Director of Learning and Leader of Teacher Training, he decided to move overseas to experience teaching in an international context. Dan was appointed as Head of History at the Alice Smith School (a British Independent International School), Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. On his return to the UK he took up a new post as Head of Humanities in a large state comprehensive school. After two years in this post he was promoted to Assistant Principal and then Vice Principal (Head of School). In that period the school was inspected and rated as 'Outstanding' in all areas by the education inspectorate; Ofsted.

He now leads the two Service Children's Education Secondary Schools in the Sovereign Base Areas in Cyprus. He divides his time between St. John's and King Richard Schools with the aim of ensuring that learning is outstanding in every lesson, every day. His vision for the schools is to refocus them on 'Excellence, Learning and Leadership' and sees their future as regional hubs of outstanding practice.

Dan's wife, Sarah and two girls (Holly, 7 and Daisy, 4) joined him in Cyprus. His interests are history, specifically modern British military history and exploring new places with his family.
