

LIEUTENANT COLONEL DAVISON LANCS

Episkopi and Troodos Station Commander

Lieutenant Colonel Davison joined the Army in 1985. Early service included postings to Catterick, Germany (including Berlin), Colchester, Londonderry and Cyprus. He deployed on operations to Northern Ireland, Cyprus, and the Balkans; and has taken part in overseas exercises in Belize, Canada and Kenya. He was an instructor at the Infantry Battle School and Sandhurst.

He commissioned from RSM 1 KORBR in 2005 and his first appointment was as RCMO (this included an Op TELIC tour and the merger of the Battalion into the Duke of Lancaster's Regiment). He took over as 2IC Junior Division at the Infantry Battle School in 2007 and then moved to Aldershot in 2009 as SO3 G1 in 11 Lt Bde HQ. The 18 months he spent with 11 Lt Bde included MST and deployment on HERRICK 11. On return from Afghanistan he was posted to Catterick as the Kings Division Trg Offr and was selected for promotion and attendance at ICSC. His IG2 appointment was as SO2 Rec Ops (North) where he was the military lead for the recruitment of almost one third of Army recruits. He returned to Regimental Duty in 2014 as Quartermaster 2 LANCS in Weeton. His tour as Quartermaster included the re-subordination from 1 Mech to 42 Inf Bde, overseas exercises in Latvia, Kenya and Belize, and the G4 preparation for the Battalion's Op TOSCA and SHADER deployments. He moved to the School of Infantry as SO2 Operations in 2016, the staff lead for Infantry individual training. He was assigned as Episkopi and Troodos Station Commander from September 2018.

He is married to Angela and they have 2 grown up daughters, Megan and Alex who both live and work in the UK. His interests include football, motorbikes, house renovation and unsuccessfully training his Border terrier to do as he is told.
