

Nichola Robertshaw

I have been teaching Science for 25 years, starting my career in my home town of Sheffield and the surrounding area. In September 2008 I secured a post with SCE Schools (now MOD schools) in Germany, starting at Gloucester School and then moving to King's school in 2015 before arriving at St. John's this year. I thoroughly enjoyed my time in Germany and achieved much success leading both the Science departments there. I now look forward to bring my expertise and skills to St. John's School. I have previous experience as a teacher governor, representing the teachers at King's school for two years.
